Brian Gross
Visual Storytelling
Leader

Tyler Remmel
World's Best Designer

On restraint

"I hope readers don't take much notice of the design at all in [my work], that they're left to focus instead on the stories that are being told. My favorite designs are those that are seen but not heard, that amplify the stories but don't distract from them."

"My goal as a designer is almost always to act with as light of a design touch as possible. I think there are many times when it's appropriate and necessary for a designer to let that design carry a package visually."

The power of visual storytelling (May 9 interview)

October 2026
briandgross.com

Brian Gross
Visual Storytelling
Leader

“The work (The Post) produced in the past few years will be held up as the gold standard for years to come, a legacy that will not be easily forgotten.”

Rebecca Pazos
Reuters Asia Graphics Editor and SND Secretary

Best in Show (April 28)